COLLECTIVE AGREEMENT RATIFIED

STRIKE SETTLED

by Steve Lewis,
News Director

Following some 60 hours of negotiation between LUFA and the Board of Governors, an agreement was made, without reservation, between both parties. At 5:15 Monday afternoon, LUFA voted to ratify the agreement and end the strike.

Faculty members voted to accept a 22.5% increase over the next three years. The average salary will be raised from $52,000 to over $57,000. Of the 219 members, 77% voted in favour of the increase. LUFA spokesperson Jean Cachon said the collective agreement is a good one:

"I was in the room for the last 60 hours of bargaining and I can say that LUFA got the best deal available."

In the first year, teachers will get a 6.5% increase, retroactive to July 1, 1989. Their salaries will go up another one per-cent on January 1, 1990, six per-cent on July 1, 1990, and two per-cent on January 1, 1991. In the third year of the contract, with a cost of living allowance, members could see wage increases as high as nine percent depending on the inflation rate. But administration said seven per-cent is the most likely increase.

Charles Belanger, acting Laurentian president, said he's relieved the strike is over.

"I am particularly relieved for the students. Around 50 students have withdrawn. Mind you, we have seventeen who have registered in that time."

Courses offered by the on-campus federated universities-Thornloe, Huntington, and Sudbury-started Monday night.

Classes will begin Wednesday morning and will resume as scheduled. City buses, mail delivery, and other service vehicles will resume service on the campus. At least for now.

UNDERGRAD AFFINITY CARD

by Steve Madison

In an unanimous decision by the Laurentian Alumni Board of Directors, the Mastercard affinity credit card is now available to undergraduate students. This is the newest program of the Laurentian Alumni Association in cooperation with the Bank of Montreal. The new affinity card is available to L.U. Alumni and their spouses, faculty, staff, friends of the University, graduate and graduating students and now undergraduate students as well.

An affinity card is a credit card that serves a special interest group and entitles the group to certain advantages. The main benefit of the affinity card is that a percentage of total net retail sales accumulated with the cards is donated to the special interest group. In this case, the Laurentian Alumni Association. The Alumni Association would receive this money quarterly.

Some of the other features of this credit card are: no transaction fees, worldwide acceptance, free emergency card replacement, emergency cash ($1000 U.S.), waiver of the first years' annual fee ($10), and a reduced interest rate compared to the regular Mastercard rate (about 1%).

The affinity card program is very popular in the United States, and is growing in popularity in Canada. The University of Western Ontario was first in obtaining an Alumni Association card in 1987. The Bank of Montreal has made similar arrangements with 23 other universities across Canada.

The card is an excellent way of supporting the University through the Alumni Association. It also increases the visibility of Laurentian University throughout Ontario or anywhere in the world where the card is used.

Applications for the Laurentian University affinity card can be obtained in English or French in the Communications Office, room 1111 in the Library Tower. Later, they will be found all over campus. Laurentian has already shown success with the Mastercard because there is a 77% approval rate of applications here. In comparison, other Canadian universities average about a 65% approval rate.

HARSH TAX LAW

By Chris Lawson
Canadian University Press

Canadian Students will be at least $340 poorer if federal finance minister Michael Wilson's unpopular Goods and Services tax is put in place.

The reform package includes a tax break for low-income earners, while imposing a nine per cent sales tax on most goods and services.

The reform, to take effect in 1991, also provides an extra tax credit for single, independent people earning between $6,175 and $13,175. The credit would mean an extra $140 for low income earners.

But most students won't earn enough to be eligible for it.

"A lot of students make less than $6,175," says Havi Echenberg, executive director of the National Anti-Poverty Organization.

Advertising research on post-secondary students shows about 65 per cent live away from home. About half earn less than $7,000 per year.

"There's no reason for it," Echenberg says. "It's the only credit based on a minimum-earned income in the whole reform package," she says.

Department of finance officials say students don't need the tax credit.

"What students are spending money on, things like tuition, rent, and food are not going to be taxed," says finance official Rick Byers. "So there's not the need to have the credit in that case-students aren't hit hard by the GST."

One department official, who asked not to be identified, says students who earned less than $6,175 didn't need extra money.

"To give them the extra credit would be another form of social assistance," he says. "And it would not be well targeted."

"I've been to school, and I've seen lots of students who had incomes of that level that had no need of assistance."

Canadian Federation of Students researcher Mike Old estimates the new tax will cost students an extra $200 per year. And while Byers says the tax credit will leave students and other low income earners better off, Echenberg isn't convinced.

The tax credit would grow annually at three per cent less than inflation each year after 1991.

"For the first year, most people would wind up ahead," Echenberg says. But in the following years, the tax credit won't keep up to inflation.

"People who are in a weak bargaining position- single parents, people in the service industry, and non-unionized workers- if there is inflation, chances are they're not going to keep up," she says.

"Students are almost always working in these kinds of jobs," she adds.

Byers says the government could not afford to extend the credit to single people earning less than $6,175.

"The tax reform isn't meant to be a social program," he says. "It's meant to make sure that the tax affects everyone equally."

OPEN LETTER FOR STUDENTS

Some of you may feel apprehensive and more than a little angry as you now start your term three and a half weeks late. You may wonder how much extra work you may have to do or how many extra classes you will need to attend to make up the lost time during the professors' strike.

You can be sure of one fact: I feel the same way. You may say, "What does she have to be angry about? She went on strike for her own benefit, and now we have to do the extra work."

It is not that simple. I also will have to do a lot of extra work to cover the necessary course materials and correct your work. So on this question we are equal.

Nor is it true that professors struck only for their own benefit. You will not get from me a rationalization such as the one that says, "More money buys better professors, and that's good for students." But over the last five or six years, I have seen this University abandon its mandate as a teaching institution as administrators and those few professors who are willing to toe the line abandon the commitment to teaching in pursuit of a few high profile research goals.

The decreasing commitment to teaching has manifested itself in many ways. Classes are getting bigger every year, and students have a choice of fewer courses, partly because professors who are forced to retire or go on sabbatical are not replaced. There is less money per course for library books, to the point where there are practically no recent political science, economics, chemistry, or physics books in the library. Full-time students are forced to take long distance courses because regular classes are full. Professors have less time to see students because they are pushed to do research or have to mark work from large classes or have to defend themselves against an increasingly arbitrary administration.

I believe that a university in which the professors and students have a fair share of the decision-making authority will be a better university for all of us. I'm sick of charging students for photocopied handouts, of begging for every library book, for money for student assistants, and for money to do research. I didn't go on strike for money for myself, and as you get to know me, you will, I'm sure, come to believe that. I went on strike for a better university to which all of us can contribute in a meaningful way.

So let us remember why we are so angry, but let us try to channel our anger into constructive energy so that we can all work hard and complete our courses without any loss in quality or standing.

RESCUE OUTREACH

by Gib McInnis

Paul Arteau, a devoted Christian, visited Laurentian last Friday to ask professors to take a stand against abortion.

He belongs to "Rescue Outreach" an international pro-life group, headed by Joan Andrews. Rescue Outreach is based in New Jersey, United States, and has various satellite groups throughout the world, excluding Canada.

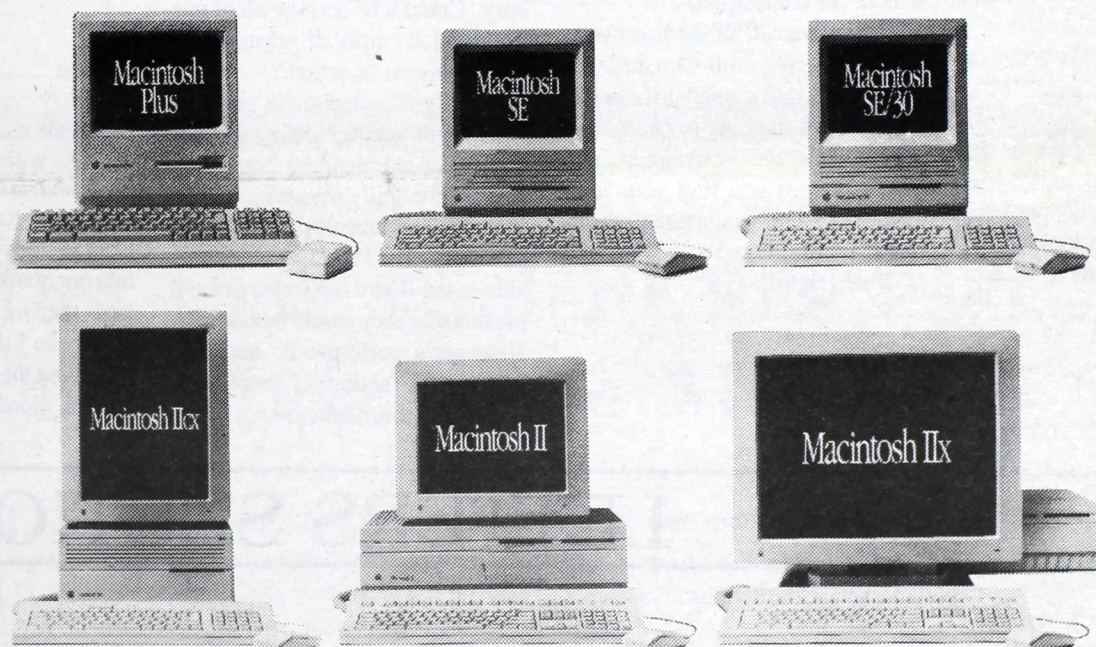

He handed out pamphlets out to Laurentian students, hoping to convince students that abortion is actually murder. Although his main purpose on campus was to hand out pamphlets, he was encouraging students to attend a campaign life seminar that night by Campaign life's president Noreen Ryan. At the meeting he described in depth, Rescue Outreach's techniques to save lives. He discussed "Lock and Block" and "Kryptonite" rescues.

A Lock and Block rescue is characterized by a huge cement block (usually it weighs 200 pounds or more) that Christians chain themselves to. This block is placed in front of an "abortion mill" ie. the Morgantaler or Scott Abortion Clinic, and the purpose is to prevent women from entering the clinic. Arteau said the Lock and Block is not always effective. Police can cut the chains and incarcerate the rescuers.

Multiple choice.

Now there's more in the Apple® Macintosh® family to choose from than ever before, with six computers to meet every personal computing need.

Start with the Macintosh Plus, the Macintosh SE, and the Macintosh SE/30. These integrated systems offer the affordability, ease of use, and consistency of applications traditionally associated with Macintosh.

And their compact design makes them easy to transport, wherever you go.

Now meet the modular side of the family: the Macintosh II, Macintosh IIx, and the newest member, the very versatile Macintosh IIcx. These expandable, high-performance computers can be configured for virtually any task. You choose the amount of RAM, the type of monitor, and the storage capacity of the hard disk, which means you can build a system to handle everything from desktop publishing to scientific and engineering applications.

But no matter which system you choose, you're still getting all the advantages of a Macintosh.

THE THRILL OF EDUCATION?

by Tricalynn Morgan
Co-editor

Alas, the moment has come; the anticipation and waiting is over. The ultimate thrill of walking through the door, sitting down, and hearing some nice-looking older gentleman say with the greatest of confidence: "Welcome class, to 2nd year law. It's been awhile, but were finally here."

Today, I had the thrill of going back to class after several weeks of unnecessary and useless waiting after over 280 professors held their longest social to date.

It was all I had hoped it would be and more.

Ha!!

My only remaining fear is that my Christmas holiday and Spring Break will be unfairly jeopardized. And this year I'm so looking forward to visiting my uncle in Winnipeg.

Just think, now I can look forward to hours and hours and hours of reading, not to mention studying like crazy to make up time wasted by selfish professors.

So much for City Lights on Thursdays, the Coulson on Fridays, and Norma's on Saturdays. Now I have to stay home and dedicate myself to homework for a few months until I'm caught up, or until my profs stop holding grudges, whichever comes first.

I guess we can all say bye-bye to our social lives until Christmas, at least. But, what a small price to pay for the thrill of going to class.

Well, welcome back students, and here's hoping you find your long awaited law essays and tests as thrilling as I will.

Yeah, right!!

Wait a minute. Wait a minute. Let's not lose control or worse, become melodramatic. Before we know it, we'll have LUFA and the Administration using pistols at dawn or jousting in the parking lot. Since we're making it such a media event, let's call in a few jugglers and maybe a highwire act. God knows we have enough clowns already!

First let me address last Tuesday's rally. I have no problem with having a rally to disseminate information and show solidarity, but using it to decide important issues borders on irresponsibility. How can we say that 500 angry people (only one-sixth of the SGA membership) in an emotional setting are representative of the student body and therefore are grounds for demanding that Dr. Belanger resign? I have heard people say that the ensuing march was a great success. Was it? There was no national coverage and our plight is still largely unknown outside Sudbury. Could it be because all of this posturing is empty of substance or viable courses of action?

Let's examine some of these 'courses of action.' What can the resignation of Belanger accomplish? Are we implicitly assuming that he is largely responsible for the current situation? The President is answerable to the Board of Governors and presumably they would monitor Dr. Belanger's performance and take appropriate action if necessary. Actions of this nature do not return us to the classroom.

The withdrawal of Students fees was quite seriously mentioned. How can we all loudly proclaim that we want to study and then consider slitting our own throats by withdrawing from the University?

Maybe I should stress right now that suing the Administration is just an idea. Come on Mr. Bostrom, you should have been promoting reason, clear thinking, and useful options instead of inciting the student body with emotional appeals like "...the lifeblood of our students' academic year is drawn from our veins," and ...educational death."

Really!!

LETTERS SECTION

Dear Co-editors,

What an event! Hundreds of students showed up for two information rallies about the strike. As a fourth year student, I was in awe, this wasn't reflective of the usual L.U. apathy that has been so predominant since I started to study here. I was quite disappointed however, to see all that potential energy channeled into an emotional free-for-all.

Instead of having a rational discussion on what our options were, SGA President Brent Bostrom fed the mood of the crowd (on both occasions) which simply served to propagate more bad feelings. Things got so out of hand, people behind me were shouting, "ah, screw it, let's get arrested!" but the coup de grace came when Bostrom buckled under pressure and demanded the resignation of acting President Charles Belanger. Brent, Brent, why didn't you tell that jerk to take a seat? While I'm at it, why didn't you take on the role of a true leader and act in our best interest QUICKLY, instead of doing the safe thing: calling a general meeting and saying, "gee guys, what a piss off, what should we do?". Delaying only served to undermine any effectiveness we might have had.

Don't worry Brent, when talking of ineffectiveness, you are in good company. What was Lambda doing during all of this? Rather than give us objective journalism on the strike our student newspaper chose to write onesided drivel making the SGA actually look effective. Where was the imagination and curiosity of the Lambda staff. Wasn't there and curiosity lingering about the positions of LUFA and the administration, and why didn't we hear about it? What a great chance for the editors to write an interesting and informative editorial, but no, instead we hear about POOR BEN and TUITION FEES. Hey guys, the Ben Johnson issue is really getting to be a bore and as for tuition fees, well, save it for later when there is nothing else of interest.

As a body autonomous of the SGA, Lambda should be taking on a more critical role of our student government, LUFA and the Administration. C'mon guys, instead of doing the safe thing, do, as Spike Lee said, "the right thing" and stop cozying up to everyone and give us some good journalism and politics.

Sincerely, Paul Fera.

Dear Editor,

First of all, I'm writing this letter to Lambda because I know it will be read.

I'd like to thank the L.U. Lifeguards and anyone who assisted in literally saving my life while in the pool Saturday, September 30, 1989.

If it hadn't have been for their fast-thinking and fast-acting, I might not be here today. THANKS!

I'm not exactly sure what happened although it was medically based.

Thankfully, I.O.U.

P.S. This time you'll get the praise you deserve.

Don't like our stories? Well, how about writing some of your own!

Lambda Publications invites students of all ages, to express their concerns, and boost public awareness through whatever talents they may have.

We especially encourage individuals to write news, entertainment, articles, and add to Lambda's creativity with drawings or graphics, or even assist in production.

It's your newspaper, so get involved in it!

ATTENTION LAMBDA STAFF:

There will be an important meeting to discuss urgent personnel matters, ie. production/editing.

The meeting will take place Friday, October 13th, 1989 at 2:00 p.m.. ALL staff is expected to attend.

Thanksgiving weekend is fast approaching, and, like every other holiday, many people will be drinking.

Everyone will be in a hurry to get back home for mom's fabulous feast, so I'm encouraging all travellers to be careful driving and look out for other motorists as well.

Just like any other holiday, there will be one or two idiots driving drunk, so please be very cautious when driving this weekend.

On behalf of the Lambda staff, I'd like to wish everyone a very happy Thanksgiving Day weekend.

RESCUE...

Arteau was asked about non-co-operative rescues and he replied with another Gandhi quote saying "non-co-operation is not a movement of brag, bluster or bluff. Its a test of our sincerity (to God). It requires solid and silent sacrifice. Its a movement that aims at translating ideas into actions. And the more we do, the more we find that much more must be done than we had expected", Mahatm Gandhi. "Young India" January 12, 1921.

His focus here at Laurentian and within the city of Sudbury was to encourage anti-abortionist to become more dedicated to their cause. Since Sudbury aborts 7-12 babies per week he believes there are substantial reasons for pro-lifers to take action. We could get in touch with our local pro-life groups "Rights to Life" or "Campaign Life" and then from there take action.

For those who don't want to get involved, but are still against the murdering of babies, write your local M.P., either Diane Marleau or John Rodriguez, House of Commons, Ottawa, Ontario, K1A 0A6.

Arteau then talked about the "Kryptonite" rescue. A Kryptonite rescue is characterized by the Kryptonite bicycle locks. The rescuers, usually groups of two women and two men, lock Kryptonite bicycle locks around their necks. Those locks are used because they can't be cut by bolt cutters and torching the locks is too dangerous. The formation of two women, two men is vitally important. When police arrive on the scene to arrest the "rescuers", chained together in front of the clinic, they are confused as to how to separate the group. Meanwhile, the clinics are halting abortions. Also, the police are faced with a problem of separating them before the rescuers can be incarcerated. County and both Federal and Provincial jails will not allow the same gender to be in the same cell.

Arteau himself has been incarcerated six times, and when asked how he felt about going to jail he quoted Mahatm Gandhi saying "Even though the government may not feel embarrassed in any way whatsoever by the incarceration of an innocent, unknown but purified person, such incarceration will be the end of the government. Even a single lamp dispels the deepest darkness." Mahatm Gardi "Young India", February 9, 1921.

He went on to stress that rescuers are to be Christians and are given strict orders to be non-violent. To ensure peacefullness, supporters are asked to film or take pictures of the rescuer to ensure that police and pro abortionist are peaceful as well.

A rescue success is determined by how co-operative the rescuers are with the "system" (police and courts). A rescue is either non-co-operative or co-operative.

A co-operative rescue is a rescue where Christians co-operate with the police when being arrested. Usually these rescues are done by "green" rescuers or new rescuers who are not familiar with a rescue.

However, a non-co-operative rescue (still not violent) is more successful in Arteau's mind. Rescuers are instructed not to co-operate with Police - go limp. Police must drag them to patrol cars, into holding cells, and then drag them in and out of court. If arrested, then the rescuers are dragged into jail also. This is successful because this non-co-operation merely applies stress to the system. As one might see there is a perfect parallel to the radicals of the sixties.

UP-COMING EVENTS

There will be a meeting for all contributors of Lambda on Monday, October 9, 1989 at 11:00 a.m. All writers and would-be writers should attend. If you cannot attend this meeting, please contact us at Lambda.

DEAR PIERRE

Dear Pierre;

Last year at school, I got to know my boyfriend's best friend Rod, and I really fell for him. I'm no longer going out with the same boyfriend, and since then I have really gotten to know Rod alot better. We spent lots of time together this summer and I'm finding myself sexually attracted to him, very much! He's sexy, fun to be with, caring, and I think he feels the same way about me too! Doesn't seem like a problem right? Eh! Wrong!

Every time I try to get closer to him, he smiles, shys away, or starts talking about baseball or golf. I just moved into my own apartment and I want to have him stay over. Please help me Pierre, I'm hurting inside, what do you think I should do?

Signed,

"Ready to Capitalize"

Dear "Ready to Capitalize";

It seems to me like you're very attracted to this person. My guess is; from what you've said, that he get's quite nervous when you initiate capitalization, so wait until he does. If he doesn't soon, jump him. He must be interested or he wouldn't stick around. Invite him over for a romantic candle-lit dinner and let me know what happens.

Signed,

Pierre.

Dear Pierre:

I don't know what to do, I haven't got lucky in years. What should I do?

"Beyond Starved"

Dear "Beyond Starved"

Don't worry, neither have I.

Signed

Pierre.

Dear Pierre;

Last week, "frustrated" claimed she was a "nice, cute girl" who couldn't get a date. The feeling person I am, I feel obliged to relieve her of this torment. I consider myself the "nice guy" for whom she's been longing. If you are reading this, "frustrated", please call Lambda and leave your number for me, "interested".

Oh yeah, you can still pay if you want

Signed,

"Interested"

Dear Interested,

Or should I say "desperate"? Maybe you should get a real job so you wouldn't have to worry about charity.

CINEFEST'89

by Ken Landry
Entertainment Editor

Cinefest '89 came off without a problem, or if there were problems, they were very little.

Friday started out with a large press conference that was attended by the Stars. It was a good start to a great evening. After the press conference, the movies began.

The first movie was Termini Station with Megan Follows starring. This particular movie was filmed in Kirkland Lake.

The movies first playing in Northern Ontario, had a full house. It was a great crowd and they seemed to enjoy the viewing thoroughly. As the evening progressed, there were more sold out performances. The movie Jesus de Montreal had to have a second and third performance because the tickets were over sold due to the great number of people who wanted to see it.

As the weekend passed, the Canadian movies were attended by people of all ages. The turn out was great for the entire weekend, with about 600 Gold tickets sold. It was indeed a great weekend and I hope Sudbury continues this new tradition.

THE ROAD NOT TAKEN

Two roads diverged in a yellow wood,
And sorry I could not travel both
And be one traveller, long I stood
And looked down one as far as I could
To where it bent in the undergrowth.

Then took the other, as just as fair,
And having perhaps the better claim,
Because it was grassy and wanted wear;
Though as for that the passing there
Had worn them really about the same,

And both that morning equally lay
In leaves no step had trodden black.
Oh, I kept the first for another day!
Yet knowing how way leads on to way,
I doubted if I should ever come back.

I shall be telling this with a sigh
Somewhere ages and ages hence:
Two roads diverged in a wood, and I --
I took the one less travelled by,
And that has made all the difference.

THE FABULOUS BAKER BOYS

Jack and Frank Baker (Jeff and Beau Bridges) are "The Fabulous Baker Brothers"; a piano duo that is lacking in style, taste, and are generally boring.

As all groups do at one point, the Baker Boys need some help in becoming "big", so they hire Susie Diamond (Michelle Pfeiffer). She soon ends their drab musical appearance.

Susan also causes Jack and Frank to closely examine their relationship with each other and their music.

The Fabulous Baker Boys is written and directed by Steve Kloves and produced by Paula Weinstein and Mark Rosenberg with original music by Dave Grusin which makes this movie an outstanding and interesting one.

HANGIN' TOUGH

"Hangin' Tough" along with other hits such as "Please Don't Go Girl" and "You Got It", have become part of the New Kids on the Block video collection. This collection has been put together after the band's album sales of over two million dollars.

The video itself is not just clips of part of another video, but is a video with teenage perspective. It shows the way of life for a teenager on the road with the band.

It looks to be a promising tape just like the band. With three hit singles and another one climbing the charts, it won't be long before the New Kids on the Block are number one.

BREW CREW REPEAT

by Kevin Marcotte and Jeff Allison

The Sturgeon Brew Crew were crowned champions of the Laurentian University Intramural Men's Slo-Pitch Tournament held Saturday and Sunday at the Terry Fox Complex. The Brew Crew won for the second year in a row by defeating the Heinous Brougham 7 - 2 in Sunday's final. Brew Crew centre-fielder Rick Dagenais was named tournament MVP as he led his team to an undefeated tournament.

In the semi-finals, the Brew Crew scored in every inning but the sixth to overcome the previously unbeaten Huntington Sluggers 10 - 5, while the Heinous Brougham got an RBI hit off the bat to Chris Letang in the top of the sixth to squeak by the Nitrams 1 - 0.

Some great action all weekend included the first homerun Saturday by Terry Cox of the Fighting Pylons and Sunday's first homerun by Scott Wasson of the Big Fat Guys. The final of the Grand Theatre Homerun Competition saw Serge Violette of the Brew Crew crank 3 outta the park to win.

In the Consolation final the Stokers "A" and the Big Fat Guys had 22 hits each with the Fat Guys prevailing 13 - 8 to secure third place in the tournament. In Saturday's Pete Rose Guess your score competition the No Names correctly guessed their score in a 10 - 6 defeat at the hands of the Fighting Pylons.

Tournament organizers Jeff and Kevin would like to thank all of our officials, Ron Malboes, Lance Chen, Natalie Menders, Christine Dunn, Christine Kiuk, and Lisa Hawken as well as our sponsors, the Grand Theatre, Mr. Topper's Pizza, Molson's, Sudbury Wolves, Casey's Restaurant, Bobb's T-Shirts, Off the Record, and the weather! The women's tournament has been rescheduled and will run on Saturday, October 14. Anyone interested in officiating can contact Jeff or Kevin at 560-5702

by Michael Stevenson

The fifth week of the schedule kicks off with three teams undefeated and two teams searching for their first victory.

Atlanta(1-3) at L.A. Rams(4-0)

Although the Rams were lucky to prevail against the 49ers last week, Atlanta shouldn't pose a problem.

L.A. by 6

Buffalo(3-1) at Indianapolis(2-2)

With the exception of a loss to Denver Buffalo is living up to preseason expectations.

Buffalo by 5

Chicago(4-0) at Tampa Bay(2-2)

Testaverde was awful against Minnesota and should continue the performance against the Bears.

Chicago by 6

Cincinnati(3-1) at Pittsburgh(2-2)

Art Rooney is smiling in his grave over the Steelers miraculous two game win streak. The Bengals will quickly reverse the trend.

Cincy by 4

Cleveland(3-1) at Miami(1-3)

Look for a repeat of Miami's 32 point loss to Houston last week.

Cleveland by 7

Dallas(0-4) at Green Bay(2-2)

Troy Aikman is soon to be replaced by Steve Walsh, but neither will get the job done against the Packers.

Green Bay by 3

Detroit(0-4) at Minnesota(2-2)

Tommy Kramer seems to have provided the spark for the Viking offense while Detroit continues to fizzle.

NFL PICKS

Minnv by 5

Houston(2-2) at New England(1-3)

Doug Flutie will wish he was shorter than he currently is, and the Oilers might just grant that wish.

Houston by 6

Kansas City(1-3) at Seattle(2-2)

Seattle's offense is finally living up to expectations.

Seattle by 3

New Orleans(1-3) at San Francisco(3-1)

The Saints will bear the brunt of the 49ers revenge after their loss to the Rams

San Fran by 6

N.Y. Giants(4-0) at Philadelphia(3-1)

Chicago exposed the weakness of Philly's secondary and the Giants' passing game is better than the Bears'.

Giants by 3

Phoenix(2-2) at Washington(2-2)

The Cardinal defense, minus Freddie Nunn, should provide laughable opposition for the Skins' running game.

Washington by 6

San Diego(2-2) at Denver(3-1)

The Broncos should be undefeated and will halt San Diego's winning streak of two games.

Denver by 5

L.A. Raiders(1-3) at New York Jets(1-3)-Monday Night

After Monday games featuring the Giants, Washington, Denver, Buffalo, Cleveland, Cincinnati, Philadelphia, and Chicago, this game will be a major let-down.

Raiders by 3

ATHELETE OF THE WEEK

The Athlete of the Week is James McLaren, a rookie with the Vees soccer team, who scored one goal while assisting on three others to help the Vees maintain their unbeaten record.

FIELD HOCKEY

While in Kingston this weekend, the field hockey team shutout McGill Saturday 2-0. Nal Dindial and Pam Hartnett were the Lady Vees goal scorers. Play continued Sunday against Queens.

Laurentian travels to Carleton University October 14 to face Queens Golden Gaels and Carleton Robins.

BASKETBALL

Although the OWIAA basketball season is over a month away, preparations have been made by the coaching staff for a promising year.

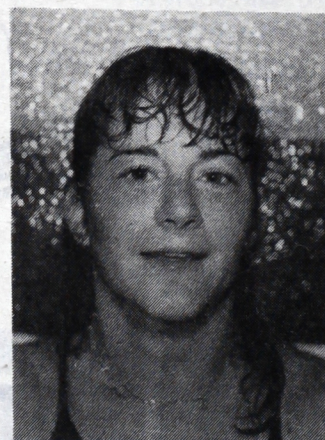

Five of the top recruits in Canada have replaced the seven graduated veterans from last year. Coach Peter Ennis is hopeful for the upcoming season. "This year, look for the fast break and a generally quicker style of play from Laurentian. The players we now have will provide us with fast paced action- it'll be exciting to watch."

The Vees kick off the season with an Alumni game on October 21, followed by a double-header at Lakehead the following weekend.

HOCKEY

Dan Gatenby, a first year student at Laurentian University, has been invited to the training camp of the Phoenix Roadrunners of the International Hockey League.

The 21 year old goaltender from Oshawa Ontario is excited about being invited to play pro hockey after completing a successful year with the Laurentian Voyageurs hockey team. Even though the Voyageurs were not a top contender last year, his improvement and discipline learned during the year will make him a strong candidate to crack the Roadrunner lineup.

SPORTS

MENS HOCKEY

After exhibition play this weekend, the hockey team holds a record of 2-1. Friday night they were defeated 8-3 by the Georgian College Grizzlies. Laurentian goal scorers were Jay Richardson, Shawn Roy, and Bill Campbell. On Saturday, the Vees came back to defeat Seneca College 7-5 with Roy getting a hat trick. Laurentian continued their winning ways on Sunday with another win against Seneca. Leading scorer in the Vees 8-2 victory was Campbell with four goals.

The Hockey Vees will be travelling to Toronto this weekend for exhibition matches against York and Ryerson.

MENS SOCCER

Laurentian Voyageurs Mens Soccer team had a successful weekend against the Queens Golden Gaels. On Saturday, the Voyageurs shutout the competition by a score of 4-0. Goals were scored by James McLaren, Todd Sindrey, Nick Milanovich, and Vince Paparo. Sunday's match against the Golden Gaels resulted in a 1-1 tie which leaves last weeks number one ranked CIAU team with a record of 4-0-1. Laurentian's only goal was scored by Milanovich on a penalty kick. Queens goal was scored by Ricky Norman.

This weekend the Voyageurs travel to Toronto to take on the Varsity Blues on Saturday and the York Yeomen on Sunday. Both game times are at 1:00 p.m.

CO-ED BADMINTON TOURNAMENT

The second annual Laurentian University Co-Ed Badminton Tournament will be held on Sunday, October 22 at 10:00 a.m.. This intramural event is intended to be fun rather than intensely competitive. Those people wishing to participate may register as a doubles team at the physical education reception desk.

There is a limit of 16 teams so please sign up early. Watch for posters regarding prizes and additional information. Participants might like to bring a lunch as food services are not open on Sundays.

For more information, contact Paul Pedersen at 688-9583.

WELCOME BACK STUDENTS

On behalf of the Board of Governors, I wish to apologize for the long delay in beginning classes. I know it has been a most unpleasant and frustrating experience for all of you. Let us hope that Laurentian University will be able to make it up to you.

Classes resume on Wednesday morning, October 4, 1989. We are still in a consultative mode regarding how lost class time will be caught up. Your student leaders are, included in this exercise. The important element is that you will be able to complete your academic year.

I wish to take this opportunity to congratulate your entire SGA Executive Members. They chose to remain neutral in the dispute and believe me, that was not the easiest road. However, because of their neutrality position they were able to apply pressure on both sides. In retrospect, they played a major role in the resolution of the conflict.

Charles H. Belanger
Acting President

SGA INFORMATION LINE

The SGA has been meeting with Laurentian University's President Dr. Charles Belanger, and he has assured us that the academic year will not be lost despite the current strike.

As a student government we are not privy to all details, but Dr. Belanger has told us that a number of plans exist to ensure that academic requirements will be fulfilled.

As to the question of Student Government action a number of possibilities exist; the most effective being legal action. Has administration breached the contract they have with students by:

1. Unilateral change of the calendar.
2. Charter of Rights and Freedoms to educate.
3. College interest on tuitions.

All these are legal avenues to take, but what of student action?

1. Will the refund of fees be necessary?
2. Sit-in, will Administration take notice?
3. Shall we block a major artery of the city?

Only you as a student can add strength to the policies we have addressed.

An organization is only as strong as its membership. Help support your future!!!

Dear SGA Association Member:

Due to the recent labour action at Laurentian University, The Student's General Association, has been forced to delay the first regular Council Meeting of all Council Members until classes resume on a regular basis.

The SGA Executive have been consumed with their efforts urging both parties towards a collective agreement. We are scheduling the first regular meeting for the Student's General Association on October 10, 1989, in the Senate Chambers.

Usually, the SGA Executive hosts a "wine and cheese" prior to the first meeting, but due to reasons mentioned above, the wine and cheese will be held subsequent to the first regular meeting on October 12, 1989.

The SGA executive urges all member associations to send a representative to the first SGA Council Meeting as well as those that follow. Your participation in the SGA and regular attendance at the meetings is what makes the SGA a success.

Meetings are every Tuesday at 5:30 p.m. for approximately the first month and biweekly thereafter.

If you have not registered your name, address, and new school phone number with the SGA this information will not appear in the new directory. You can find a directory address form on the back page of the student handbook.

Drop this form or the information off at the SGA office on Student Street (in the mailbox after hours) or in a receptacle provided in front of the Great Hall.

Please return this information to us no later than Friday, October 13. Or else you will be out of luck.

Smith Corona presents three products that can help make schoolwork academic.

The Smith Corona PWP 2000 Personal Word Processor is in a class by itself. It's so compact it can fit in the most compact dorm room. Yet, thanks to features like a built-in disk drive, 100,000 character DataDisk capacity, and a crystal clear display, it makes it easy to transform B's into A's.

For those who prefer an electronic typewriter, the Smith Corona XD 4600 is the typewriter of preference. With its 16 character display and approximately 7000 characters of editable memory, you can have the convenience of word processing features with the simplicity of a typewriter.

Of course, the Spell-Right™ 200 also comes with impeccable references. In this case, a built-in electronic dictionary, a thesaurus, a calculator, even a collection of challenging word games.

So if you're thinking Magna Cum Laude at the end of this year, don't forget to think Smith Corona at the beginning of this year.

For more information on these products, write to Smith Corona Canada, 440 Tapscott Road, Scarborough, Ontario, Canada M1B 1Y4.
